Supreme Court Acts in Case of Williamsburg Knitting Mills.

Washington, March 16.—The Supreme Court of Appeals in Bitigation over title to a sprinkler system installed at the Williamsburg Valust 25, 1999, to install a sprinkler system installed at the Williamsburg Valust 25, 1999, to install a sprinkler system for the mills company, now a markengt. It was ready for service in larch, 1919. In the contract it was roviced that title was reserved until he full purchase price was paid. The contract was not recorded, although the iriginia law provided that such consacts for the retention of title were corded.

value without notice unless they were recorded.

On March 23, 1969, a mortgage to secure a loan was executed to Norvell I. Healey, trustee, in favor of the renhisula Bank, the mortgage having an after-acquired property clause.

The lower court held that the sprink-ler plant became a fixture, and upon its completion came within the terms of the after-acquired property clause and the contract not being recorded, the mortgage took precedence over it. The court also held that it was necessary under the amended bankruptcy act of June 25, 1919, for Holt & Co. to record its contract to have an effective lien as against the bankrupt's estate in the hands of the trustee.

No decisions were announced to-day by the Supreme Court in the railroad rate and other important cases pending.

M. Calmette also charged that M. Calllaux had "tapped" the Comptoir National D'Escompte and other banks to the amount of $80,000.

Among other accusations it was charged that the minister had exerted pressure on the judges to postpone the trial of Henri Rochette, who was ar-rested in Paris in 1998 on the charge of swindling on an enormous scale, thus enabling him to flee to Mexico. M. Caillaux was also charged with authorizing the quotation on the Bourse of questionable foreign loans, where-
